

Future Training Opportunities for Financial Literacy

The New Jersey Coalition for Financial Education, the New Jersey Department of Education, several New Jersey banks and financial institutions, and the FDIC are partnering to offer a variety of financial literacy training opportunities for teachers and community members. Educators participating in these workshops will obtain free curriculum materials for immediate use in the classroom.

Financial Education Curriculum Summer Showcases! (Free)

Summer showcases will be offered at different locations throughout New Jersey and will provide teachers and administrators an opportunity to review free and fee-based financial literacy curriculum materials.

- Northwest Region: August 12, 2009 – Affinity Federal Credit Union, Basking Ridge, NJ
- Northern Region: July 30, 2009 – Rutgers University's YES Center, Newark, NJ
- Central: July 13, 2009 – PNC Bank Tower, East Brunswick, NJ
- South: August 18, 2009 - EIRC, Sewell, NJ

Please register at: www.njcfe.org for the summer showcases.

Financial Education Workshops for Urban Educators (Free)

During these interactive workshops, successful strategies and approaches will be presented for teaching financial literacy as well as turn-key teaching materials and resources. Special emphasis will be on working with students from urban schools and students with special needs.

- Central: Middlesex County College – July 22, 2009 9-1 PM
- Central: NJEA (Hamilton Square Office) August 4, 2009 9-1 (building opens at 9)

Please register at: <http://education.state.nj.us/events>.

New Jersey Coalition of Financial Education (NJCFE) 3rd Annual Financial Education Symposium and Annual Financial Literacy Awards Presentation

HOLD THE DATE! - October 28, 2009 – Cook College Student Ctr., Rutgers University, New Brunswick, NJ

“Teachers Teaching Teachers” – TARGET AUDIENCE – NJ Special Education Teachers

Professional financial education providers and classroom teachers will jointly present New Jersey special education teachers information about adaptive resources, tools and strategies to equip students with personal financial literacy skills.

Registration is limited at a special advance rate of $45. Included are certificates for professional development hours, admission to the 2009 Financial Literacy Awards Presentation Luncheon and free classroom resources, materials, strategies and lesson plans. Register today at www.njcfe.org.